

Rigmaster Double Palm Rigger™ LR143DP

Rigmaster Double Palm Rigger™ is a chrome leather rigger glove that has an additional layer of leather covering the front of the thumb, forefinger and palm area. The additional layer of chrome leather sewn into key danger areas, results in a glove that offers maximum EN388 scores for abrasion, tear and puncture resistance, no small feat for a traditional rigger glove. With a rubberised safety cuff and leather vein patch extending protection to the wrist area, you are assured of a product that will provide excellent protection. User comfort has also been taken into consideration with the addition of a fleece lining sewn onto the inside of the palm providing the luxury that is so often missing from traditional gloves. These properties make Rigmaster Double Palm Rigger™ stand out from the competition.
